Xcode For Web
Won 4th Place at the 2015 Greylock Hackfest

Built a web app that lets a user write iOS applications using Javascript & JSX and view the resulting app on their phone. The code is compiled on my backend server (built in node) using Facebook's React Native Packager. The result is then sent to a companion iOS app for the user to view. The user can thus build an iOS app without Xcode and view the results wirelessly on their device.
